FCC ANNOUNCES MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMMUNICATIONS SECURITY, RELIABILITY, AND INTEROPERABILITY COUNCIL

This Public Notice serves as notice that, consistent with the Federal Advisory Committee Act,¹ Federal Communications Commission (FCC or Commission) Chairman Julius Genachowski has appointed members to the Communications Security, Reliability, and Interoperability Council (CSRIC or Council).² The members represent a diverse and balanced mix of viewpoints from public safety organizations; Federal, state and local government agencies; the communications industry; organizations representing Internet users; utility companies; public interest organizations; and other experts.³ Chairman Genachowski has designated Glen F. Post III of CenturyLink as Chair of the Council. A list of Council members is attached to this Public Notice.

The Council is a Federal Advisory Committee that will provide recommendations to the Commission regarding best practices and actions the Commission can take to ensure the security, reliability, and interoperability of communications systems.

On March 18, 2011, pursuant to the Federal Advisory Committee Act,⁴ the Commission renewed the CSRIC charter for a period of two years, through March 18, 2013.⁵ Under the charter, CSRIC's duties may include:

² On March 22, 2011, the Commission released a Public Notice seeking nominations and expressions of interest for membership on the Council. See FCC Recharter the Communications Security, Reliability, and Interoperability Council, Seeks nominations by April 22, 2011 for Membership, Public Notice, DA - 11-534, rel. March 22, 2011. On April 19, 2011, the Commission extended the time for nominations through May 13, 2011. See FCC Extends Deadline for Membership Nominations Until May 13, 2011 for Communications Security, Reliability, and Interoperability Council, Public Notice, DA 11-713, rel. Apr. 19, 2011.

³ The Commission will announce the Council's first meeting in a separate Public Notice.

⁴ 5 U.S.C. App. 2.

⁵ See 76 Fed. Reg. 17650 (Mar. 30, 2011).

- Developing and recommending best practices and actions the FCC can take that promote reliable 9-1-1, E9-1-1, and Next Generation 9-1-1 (NG9-1-1) service.
- Determining and making recommendations on whether and how NG9-1-1 can be extended to other N-1-1 services to ensure their reliability and cost-effective deployment.
- Identifying and recommending to the FCC a set of best practices to make communications networks, including broadband networks and VoIP systems, more secure, resilient, and defensible from Internet-based attacks.
- Developing recommendations for actions the FCC could consider to promote the development of a broadband-based, next generation alerting system that leverages advanced technologies and the Internet, including social media platforms, to distribute emergency alerts and warnings to the public.
- Identifying and recommending to the FCC actions to improve the functioning of the national security/emergency preparedness priority services programs: Government Emergency Telecommunications Service; Telecommunications Service Priority; and Wireless Priority Service.
- Making recommendations with respect to such additional topics as the FCC may specify.
